Significant Contributors

James Hardie Industries (+13.4%)

Management released their 1st quarter 2020 result with adjusted earnings before interest and tax of US$124 million, up 16% compared to the prior corresponding period. Their North American Fiber Cement business deliver strong volume growth which pleased investors given the housing demand has been soft across most geographies.

Aurizon Holdings Limited (+4.8%)

The company announced their 2019 result with underlying earnings before interest and tax of AU$829 million, down 12% compared to prior corresponding period. Despite the soft result, the CEO is delivering well on the strategy which included the announcement of a $300 million share buyback.

Brambles Limited (-13.9%)

The supply-chain logistics company delivered their 2019 result and although revenue growth was pleasing, it was offset from global cost inflation and broader cost challenges. The company expects 2020 sales revenue growth to be at the low end of guidance given the global slowdown and weak automotive industry.

Significant Detractors

BHP Group (-11.0%)

The company reported a broadly in line 2019 financial result which included a strong dividend distribution. The share price fell due to weak iron ore prices which were down during the month after they rose to unsustainable levels post the dam failure in Brazil. The market is closely watching the outlook for Chinese steel production given the pending trade war.

Woolworths Group Limited (+6.0%)

The company delivered their 2019 financial result and reported net profit after tax of $1.75 billion, up 7% compared to 2018. Their Australian food business performed well with sales up 3.3% during the year.

Newcrest Mining Limited (+4.6%)

Management reported 2019 underlying profit of US$561m compared to US$459 million in 2018. The share price also rose along with gold price up 7.2% during the month, as bond yields remained under pressure and investors continued to worry about the outlook for global growth.

Market Review

The S&P/ASX 200 Accumulation Index finished 2.40% lower in August driven by the company reporting season which largely disappointed relative to expectations. The number of companies exceeding market earnings expectations was low, especially given expectations were rebased after the large number of profit warnings delivered from companies in the months preceding August. The mining sector disappointed due to cost inflation pressures and plans to moderately increase capital expenditure, whilst the banking sector also disappointed due to soft revenue growth from margin pressure and lower fee income. The standout sector from reporting season was healthcare (+3.6%) where results were broadly in line with expectations and the outlook commentary pleased investors.

The top three moves within the Index included Nanosonics (+21.1%) which saw strong growth in their infection control products, Smartgroup (+21.0%) delivered a resilient result despite the slowdown in new vehicle sales and Lendlease (+19.4%) which reported a solid net profit result in their core business and a strong pipeline of major urbanisation projects. The bottom three moves were Speedcast International (-58.9%) which reported weak cashflow in a profit result that has highlighted investor concerns around their leveraged balance sheet, Ooh!Media (-30.5%) after announcing a material decline in overall media advertising spend and general economic uncertainty impacting their business, Bellamy's Australia (-25.7%) which cited an increase in competition in China and pushed out their medium term revenue target.

S&P/ASX 200 Top & Bottom performing sectors for the month ending 31 August:

The best performing sectors in the S&P/ASX200 Accumulation Index for the month were Real Estate Management & Development (+17.9%), Pharmaceuticals & Biotechnology (+4.5%), Food & Staples Retailing (+4.4%), Retailing (+2.0%) and Health Care Equipment & Services (+1.9%). The worst performing sectors included Household & Personal Products (-18.8%), Consumer Durables & Apparel (-15.4%), Materials (-7.5%), Food Beverage & Tobacco (-7.2%) and Capital Goods (-6.8%).

S&P/ASX200 Top & Bottom performing stocks for the month ending 31 August:

Market Outlook

The Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) has recently recalibrated the benchmark cash rate to the record low level of 1.00%. We expect the RBA to provide ongoing support to assist the economy through the challenges of the softer residential property market, the US–China trade war developments and the impacts of the 2018/19 drought. The low interest rate outlook has driven the Australian 10-year Commonwealth Government bond yield to 0.89% during August and provided record low borrowing costs for Australia households and businesses.

Despite these supportive settings alongside federal income tax cuts, signs of improvement from the Australian consumer during August “reporting season” were mixed. For example, August 2019 was the 17th consecutive month where new car sales fell relative to the corresponding month in the previous year. However, in the retail space positive signs were evident in the trading of JB Hifi and Baby Bunting which reported robust sales over the recent periods. In the property market signs of improvement were seen in auction clearance rates which continued to improve in Sydney and Melbourne.

Given this low interest rate backdrop we continue to search for attractive investment opportunities.
