Significant Contributors

Aristocrat Leisure Limited (12.5%)

Management presented their financial results for the half year ended 31 March 2019 during the month, which was well received by investors. The strong result was driven by continued growth in the company's land-based operations in the United States and its digital offerings, along with a lift in performance in the Australian division.

Orica Limited (12.3%)

During the month the global company which manufactures explosives and blasting systems presented its half year result for the six months to 31 March 2019, where improved operating performance and manufacturing reliability helped deliver a strong first half result.

Aurizon Holdings Limited (8.8%)

The rail freight operator announced it has signed agreements with customers on a proposed revised Access Undertaking for the Central Queensland Coal Network. If approved by the Queensland Competition Authority the new agreement will result in greater collaboration between industry and Aurizon to ensure the network delivers to customers' needs, which is a win-win for Aurizon and its customers.

Significant Detractors

Link Administration Holdings Limited (-21.4%)

The company which provides a range of outsourced administration services provided a trading update late in the month which was softer than investors anticipated. Management cited factors including Brexit, regulatory change in the Australian superannuation sector and low activity in corporate markets as causes for the soft trading conditions.

Reliance Worldwide Corporation Limited (-24.8%)

During the month the manufacturer of plumbing products provided a trading update that was weaker than investors' expectation due to a range of issues across the global business including weak seasonal factors in the United States, transitional issues in the UK and a decline in new home construction in Australia.

QBE Insurance Group Limited (-9.7%)

The global insurance business was impacted by weakening global bond yields, senior management changes and concerns of insurance losses in the companies crop business due to the US floods. The company held its annual general meeting during the month and remains focused on cost reduction.

Market Review

The S&P/ASX200 Accumulation Index returned +1.7% in May outperforming key international markets including the S&P 500 Index (-6.6%) and the MSCI World Ex-Australia Index (-6.2%). While the global markets were dominated by escalating trade war developments, the Australian market responded positively to several factors including the unexpected federal election result where the incumbent Coalition party was re-elected with a majority, news that APRA is considering relaxing lending standards for mortgage serviceability assessments and the continued strength in Iron Ore prices.

The top three moves within the Index included Lynas Corporation (+54.0%) after China threatened to halt rare earth exports to the United States and the company received positive news flow in regards to its Malaysian operation, Domain Holdings (+21.9%) which experienced a boost in sentiment following the federal election result and Evolution Mining (+21.3%) which was supported by the strength in the gold price. The bottom three moves were Costa Group Holdings (-30.3%) after management announced that production has been impacted by a weak operating environment, Reliance Worldwide (-24.8%) which lowered financial year 2019 earnings guidance during the month and Nufarm (-22.1%) which remains under pressure due to weather conditions and working capital challenges.

S&P/ASX 200 Top & Bottom performing sectors for the month ending 31 May:

The best performing sectors in the S&P/ASX200 Accumulation Index for the month were Media & Entertainment (+8.0%), Telecommunication Services (+7.1%), Real Estate Management & Development (+6.4%), Banks (+5.3%) and Health Care Equipment & Services (+3.4%). The worst performing sectors included Consumer Durables & Apparel (-12.3%), Capital Goods (-10.9%), Food Beverage & Tobacco (-9.1%), Diversified Financials (-5.8%) and Software & Services (-4.0%).

Market Outlook

Ongoing trade friction between the United States and its key trading partners, combined with the Brexit deliberations continues to add uncertainty to global markets. Global bond yields have continued to press markedly lower, as any expectations for a normalisation of policy settings have reversed to expectations the major central banks will provide supportive settings for the major economies.

Domestically, the Australian economic conditions have softened however the Reserve Bank of Australia remains committed to a supportive monetary policy to help achieve employment and inflation objectives. The re-election of the Coalition government with its lower tax agenda has improved investor sentiment and we remain focused on signs of improvement in domestic credit growth and the residential property market.

Given this backdrop we continue to see attractive investment opportunities across the market.
